Technical Guide

Get the most out of EUTHABAG
The curve of the animals back should be aligned with the curve of the zipper as per image below for an insertion with minimal manipulation.

Putting the rear end first will make insertion easier.
Position the animal's head is to the left

A memory aid: the animal's head in the same direction as on the ETHBG logo

Zip over the rear end first, allowing:

- a better view for clients that return to see their pet
- a smoother experience for clients that want to close the bag themselves
Identification is crucial

Shipping tags of varied colors
- private
- communal

Pen or Marker
Handling

Use the integrated handles created at both ends by the pleats

Specially designed for larger animals

No stretcher needed < 35kg
Place EUTHABAG flat on the table with the flap open and tucked underneath.

A blanket can then be placed over the open bag.

Euthanasia is performed.

The family is asked if they want to be present during placement of the body.

The blanket is removed, with pet being already in place, so that minimal manipulation is required. Place the rear end into the bag first, then tuck front paws and the head in. The pet parents may want to zip it themselves.
Children can draw a message for their best friend while you discuss the upcoming procedure with your clients. The drawing can be placed into the EUTHABAG as a final goodbye.
The family closing the bag

Transform ones inner turmoil into a practice building opportunity

Family Involvement

Closing the bag can be an important added value.

An image that will long follow them.

It comforts them

Provides closure

For the family, it can help close a chapter: saying goodbye to their companion instead of leaving them behind on the table.
Store flat and ensure the body is placed in a natural position for families that may return to see their pet or change their mind.

For take-homes, accompany the owner to the car and make sure the body is placed flat as the family may be disoriented/devastated.
The sight of a big syringe and needle can be shocking to some clients.

Putting all your material in a EUTHA\text{BAG} XS can be handy and looks professional.
